 - a. RUHS staff submits claims for the Primary Payor, Arlington Campus billing staff submits Short Doyle claims to the secondary payor
 - b. Self-Pay balance after insurance – efforts are made determine if the client has any health care coverage however we do not attempt to collect payment for Psych services from the client

When reviewing these accounts, you should follow the steps below to ensure that the services are truly Psych related.

Forward account to the Nurse Auditor WQ to confirm that the services are really Psych related

If Nurse Auditor confirms that the total stay is Psych related, you would proceed with doing an adjustment. Using 147365 – HB Mental Health Adjustment

If Nurse Auditor confirms that only part of the stay is Psych related, she will update the room charges to appropriately report the Medical days vs Psych days. You would proceed with doing a split bill of the Medical days to the Managed Medi-Cal or Medi-Cal payor and process an adjustment for the Psych days - Using 147365 – HB Mental Health Adjustment

If Nurse Auditor finds that none of the days are Psych related, she will update the room charges. You will then proceed with billing all Medical days to the Managed Medi-Cal or Medi-Cal payor.

Note: The Short-Doyle/Medi-Cal (SDMC) claim process system allows California's County Mental Health Plans (MHPs) to obtain reimbursement of funds for medically necessary and specialty mental health services provided to Medi-Cal-eligible beneficiaries.

Short Doyle Program History

Prior to 1993, California's Medicaid program -- called Medi-Cal -- historically included two components of service for persons with mental illness. All Medi-Cal beneficiaries were entitled to fee-for-service medically necessary inpatient services and limited outpatient services to treat diagnosed mental illness. In addition, counties operated the Short-Doyle Medi-Cal program, serving seriously mentally ill adults and seriously emotionally disturbed children. When public mental health clients were Medi-Cal- eligible, counties could claim federal matching Medicaid funds for their medically necessary services. In 1991, public mental health funds for the 'target population' of seriously mentally ill adults and children, including Short-Doyle clients, were realigned, with responsibility for planning, managing and delivering services shifted to counties.

In 1993, California opted for the federal Medicaid Rehabilitation Option for Short-Doyle Medi-Cal, offering counties the option of using a wide range of licensed practitioners (social workers, nurses, and counselors, in addition to psychiatrists and psychologists) to deliver services in a variety of sites, including homes, schools, senior centers, etc. During the period 1995-97, California consolidated the fee-for-service system for specialty mental health services and the Short-Doyle system into a single consolidated mental health system. Counties were offered the first opportunity to manage this system, including accepting the risk for a fixed amount of funds for the adult portion of the service. To date, all counties except one tiny county have accepted the system. A federal 'freedom of choice' waiver was granted, to permit the state to establish a single 'Mental Health Plan' in each area.

Program Funding

Mental Health Plans (i.e., counties, unless they choose not to participate) accept a fixed amount of non-federal funds, based on the amount of resources the state was spending in 1994-95, adjusted annually to reflect changes in the medical Consumer Price Index, and changes (increases or decreases) in caseload. Plans are required to provide medically necessary specialty mental health services to all Medi-Cal recipients within this amount. Services to children under Medi-Cal -- EPSDT -- are funded differently.

Program Eligibility

Medi-Cal beneficiaries who have a mental illness or mental health treatment need serious enough to require the services of a mental health specialist are entitled to services from the Mental Health Plan.

Program Services

Services include the assessment necessary to determine eligibility for specialty mental health services, urgent care services when required, and treatment services required by the assessment. Some clients are provided case management and medication services in addition to treatment.
